Profile overview

With over 30 years of experience in the financial industry, he helps clients identify the unseen and potentially perilous planning gaps that could leave both the business and family at financial risk.

His professional mission is to give owner-operators the gift of clarity and confidence that all they're working so hard to create will produce the wealth and impact they desire; for themselves, their family, and the causes meaningful to them.

His work enables business owners to monetize their life's work, mitigate risks, pay less tax, and ultimately gain control over their financial future.

Philip is supported by a seasoned team of specialists in legal matters, administration, tax, investment expertise, and underwriting. Together, this team is setting new standards of excellence in serving clients and building lifetime relationships.
